Dear Parents and Guardians,

We are thrilled to share that our school will be celebrating Science Week, and this year, we have the exciting opportunity to participate in the Explorify 'Start with Art' competition. This wonderful initiative encourages our children to explore the fascinating link between science and creativity.

We invite you and your children to create a piece of art at home that sparks discussion about a science topic of your choice. The possibilities are endless! Whether you choose to draw, paint, sculpt, create a collage, print, photograph, or make a model, we would love to see your child's imagination come to life. This is a fantastic chance for them to express their understanding of science through their artistic flair!

Please kindly note that the deadline for submissions is the 31st of March. Please send your the artwork into school (it needs to be given to their class teacher) or send your teacher a Seesaw message with a picture attached.

We will be sending off the top three entries from each age category—7 and under, and 8 to 12. If your child's artwork is selected as a winner by the Explorify judges, they will receive a £50 book voucher, and their art will be showcased on the Explorify website for use by children across the country. What a fantastic opportunity for our budding artists!

For more detailed information about the competition, please visit this link: <https://explorify.uk/teacher-support/helpful-reads/explorify-art-competition-2025>

We encourage all children to participate and look forward to seeing the creative and inspiring pieces that emerge from this challenge. Thank you for your ongoing support in nurturing your child's love for both science and art.

Yours faithfully,

Miss Delamere and Mr Peacock
